STEEL WORKERS STRIKE SURE TO OCCUR ON MONDAY

Both Operators and Men Are Making Plans to Further Their Cause

Mill Owners Say Only Small Proportion of Men Will Go On Strike

BY FRED S. FERGUSON.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 20.—Mass meetings will be held in the villages and towns throughout the great steel industries of the country Sunday at which organizers and union leaders will address the workers on the eve of the scheduled big steel strike.

Telegrams and telephone calls were sent out from national and various headquarters today arranging for speakers for the meetings. The steel workers and members of the twenty-four affiliated unions will be urged to strike to a man.

Night shift employees are scheduled to go to work as usual, but with the dawn of Monday, the leaders expect a tie-up of the big mills. Officials notified the national headquarters today that a strike appeared imminent among Colorado fuel and iron companies.

Prospects of trouble here with prospective clashes begin to grow this afternoon as plans were progressing.

With two companies of Pennsylvania famous state police ordered out and 10,000 deputies being sworn in by the steel corporations and boroughs, presidents in steel towns about Pittsburgh announce steps will be taken to prevent mass meetings of steel workers called for Sunday.

The state police are loyally hated by union men. New ordinances require that permits be obtained for meetings or gatherings, and permits will be refused the borough presidents declared today, and they will order the arrest of any attempting to hold meetings without permit.

Steel Head Not In.

New York, Sept. 20.—Judge Gary, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States steel corporation was not in his office today, and will not be in during the day it was said by secretaries but made it plain that calls for further word would not be forthcoming today, and reports would not be confirmed or denied.

Lackawanna Plant Will Operate

Buffalo, Sept. 20.—The Lackawanna Steel company has decided to continue its plant in operation in face of the strike scheduled for Monday. Mayor Tomney has applied to Sheriff Bradley and to Governor Smith for help to preserve order.

Rents All Halls

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 20.—Steel companies were reported today to have rented all the halls in Braddock and Homestead in the hope of preventing meetings of steel workers if they strike on Monday. Union officials meanwhile asserted that the men have a right to assemble their men if they can find places to meet while development is pending in the strike.

Women Expected to Help

Washington, Sept. 20.—Women will be relied upon to help win the nation wide strike against the United States Steel corporation to begin on Monday, according to chief organizer, John Fitzpatrick.

Women investigators will be sent to the homes of strikers to see what help can be given by union organizers and to keep up the morale of wives and daughters of the strikers, said Fitzpatrick, who is on his way to Chicago today after a conference yesterday with Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor.

Aboard the President's train in Cal. Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 20.—President Wilson arrived in Los Angeles before 9 o'clock today after having spent the night on his special train, which was placed on the siding at Del Mar, a few miles from San Diego. There was a big crowd at the station but Wilson was not ready to leave the train until some time after it arrived.

After a delay of about one and one-half hours President Wilson debarked from his special train. The reception committee was still waiting and the girls with the flowers and the band remained on hand.

Late Developments in Treaty Situation

Senator Lodge and His Supporters Believe Johnson Amendment Will Pass

By L. C. MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 20.—Out of a whirl of apparently contradictory developments recently, treaty situations appeared to be:

1—A straight out fight on the first and second amendments to the treaty as proposed by a majority of the foreign relations committee, to begin next week.

2—As Senator Hiram Johnson, author of the first amendment will not return from his speaking tour despite advice from Senators Lodge and Knox, it is assured that his friends will loyally look after his interest.

3—Mild reservationists, though opposed to Senator Johnson's amendment, will oppose any effort to rush a vote on it until full debate has been had.

4—Senator Lodge and his lieutenants are supremely confident they have the vote to put Senator Johnson's amendment through, though they believe the Shantung amendment now is definitely beaten.

The first two amendments to be taken up are really one, Johnson's amendment No. 1 proposes to equal the voting strength of the United States with that of Great Britain in the league covenant.

Senator Moses' amendment No. 2 provides that in case of dispute for instance with the United States the self-governing colonies of the British empire shall have no vote in the assembly.

Johnson Talks 100 Per Cent Americanism

Wilson Preached Freedom of the Seas One Roar of the Lion Made Him Forget It

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—(United Press)—Senator Johnson told the crowd of two thousand at the Metropolitan theatre today that "This is a time when men cannot halt, hesitate, or pussyfoot."

"There is too much at stake, for our great nation stands at the cross roads of its destiny," he declared. "We are now facing a situation where we must yield to sinister Asiatic or European diplomacy or where we will stand out for one hundred percent Americanism."

"The path of one hundred percent Americanism is that which some of us at Washington have taken and we will go forward on that path until, in this infamous thing, the American people are fully protected."

Johnson declared President Wilson forgot "the great principle of self-determination at Paris."

"You remember he talk of the freedom of the seas," said Johnson. "One mention of that and the British lion roared and the freedom of the seas was never talked of again. All American principles were forgotten at the Paris conference. At Kansas City Woodrow Wilson asserted he was a covenantor. He is a covenantor. I too, am a covenantor—but the difference is that I am an American."

"At the same time that these representatives of co-belligerents were speaking before the senate in Washington, telling of the ideal for which the allies and the United States were fighting, their pockets were stuffed with secret treaties. The same treaties are incorporated with the league of nations and peace treaty."

Food Prices For August

As Reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics One Per Cent Higher in August

Washington, Sept. 20.—(United Press)—Retail food prices in August were 1% higher than in July the bureau of labor statistics reported today.

The Bureau of Labor bears out the figures obtained by the United Press a week ago.

Today's estimates were apparently in conflict with the department of justice statement that figures from twelve states indicated a decline of from 10 to 15%.

Discussing its report the Labor Bureau said:

This makes the total cost of twenty-two articles of food upon comparison as based the highest on record.

The bureau further indicated that since August 1918 food prices increased 12% and that during the six year period from August 1913 to August 1919, food prices have increased 91%.

The increase in August prices took place during the height of the government's campaign to reduce living costs. At the same time the wholesale prices and prices paid to producers fell slightly.

POLES PUSH BACK REDS

Bolsheviks Forced to Retreat to Dvina on North of Dvina River

London, Sept. 19.—The Polish forces in Russia have driven the Bolsheviks to the northern bank of the Dvina river as far as Dvina and have occupied Korostenchtop. On the Ukrainian front the Bolsheviks have forced General Petliura out of Radomysl, but apparently are not attempting to recapture Kiev itself.

This represents an advance northward by the Poles of approximately 100 miles.

According to his employers Julofsky and another messenger started out to deliver $450,000 worth of bonds to other concerns. Julofsky, it was said, failed to return to his office. A package delivered at a Wall street concern supposed to contain $300,000 was found to be $141,000 short.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Reports to the Department of Justice from twelve states indicate there has been a decline of 10 to 15 per cent in food prices since the time the fair price committees began their work.

Toll on Texas Coast May Reach 800; Relief Work is Progressing

(By United Press)

Key West, Fla., Sept. 19.—That the Spanish steamer Valbanera, carrying 300 passengers and a crew of 150, went down in the hurricane 10 days ago, appeared certain tonight by the statement of Ensign L. B. Roberts, commanding officer of the United States sub-chaser 203, who stated he plainly saw the name plate of that steamer on the vessel found today sunk in 40 feet of water near here.

40 Miles From Key West

The statement of Ensign Roberts corroborated that of divers who made an investigation of the sunken vessel. The wreck was seen by the sub-chaser near Rebecca shoals light-house about 40 miles from Key West. It lay in water which covers a bed of quicksand. No bodies were seen.

The Valbanera has been missing since the storm which caught her as she neared Havana en route from Spanish ports to New Orleans. Her passengers are thought to have been almost entirely Spanish. The vessel carried a valuable cargo.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 20.—Wrecking crews and divers left here today to examine the wreck of the sunken Spanish steamer Valbanera. It is believed that the ship went down in the hurricane that swept Cuba ten days ago. It carried 300 passengers and a crew of 150. The vessel carried a valuable cargo.

The vessel has been missing since Sept. 9, when she arrived off Morro Castle, Havana, and communicated by wireless with the shore and put to sea again because of the information that it was dangerous to enter the harbor during the storm. Nothing was known of the fate of the passengers and crew. They were believed to be Spanish and Cubans.

GARY MAJORITY NOT TO STRIKE

Foreman Canvasses 10,125 Employees; 8,302 to Remain at Work

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Of 10,125 employees canvassed by foremen in the Gary works, a United States Steel corporation mill at Gary, Ill., 8,302 signified their intention of remaining at work, according to a statement issued yesterday by steel officials.

On the other hand, union officials declared that at least 150,000 employees of steel companies in Chicago district, which includes Milwaukee, Joliet and other nearby cities, would go on strike.

The American sheet and tin mills at Gary, Ind., are expected to continue operations in spite of the strike. It was reported, while in South Chicago, the Illinois Steel and other plants, it was said, would close should the strike go into effect and involve large number of employees.

HEAVY CUT IN COAL YIELD BY CAR SHORTAGE

12,000,000 Tons Lost in 10 Weeks by Inadequate Supply of Cars.

600,000 MINERS PLAN TO ASK WAGE INCREASE

Operators Tell Senate Committee That Radical Miners Are Trying to Install Soviet Methods in Mining.

Washington (Special).—Shortage of cars in the coal fields has cut production of bituminous coal 12,000,000 tons in 10 weeks, and threatens to bring about a recurrence of the coal famine of 1917-18, unless checked without delay, according to testimony given by John Callahan, traffic manager of the National Coal Association, before the Senate committee investigating the coal situation, at its first days hearing here.
"During the two weeks ending August 2 and 9," Mr. Callahan said, "car shortage caused the bituminous coal mines of the country to lose approximately 5,900,000 tons of coal, enough to supply the entire state of New Jersey for ten months. The loss in ten weeks has been sufficient to supply all the New England states for eight months."

Shortage of Cars.
Mr. Callahan declares that if there are not cars at the mines it is impossible to operate the mines to full-time capacity. "The shortage of cars has come," he said, "at the time the demand for coal is increasing, and at a time when railroad efficiency should be at a maximum point."

"If the bituminous coal operators of the country are given sufficient cars to take away the coal they mine," Mr. Callahan said, "and if there are no labor disturbances to prevent the operation of the mines, they can supply sufficient fuel to meet the country's requirements next fall and winter. If they are not supplied with more cars, there undoubtedly will be a repetition of the coal shortage of 1917-18, at least to some degree."

Labor Unrest Exists.
Shortage of cars is not alone the only threatening situation in the industry, however, according to Harry N. Taylor, of Kansas City, president of the Association, who preceded Mr. Callahan on the witness stand. The 600,000 miners employed throughout the nation are about to formulate demands for higher wages. Mr. Taylor declares. The more radical among the number were endeavoring to apply the methods of the soviet government of Russia to the bituminous industry. If their counsel should sway the more conservative of their numbers and extremely radical demands should be made, which could not be acceded to, Mr. Taylor said he doubted if the operators "could mine a pound of coal."

Three Things To Overcome.
"To save the public from calamity," Mr. Taylor said, "it will be necessary to overcome three things: First, that we do not have an extraordinarily severe winter; second, that the Railroad Administration move the coal in a regular manner; and third, that by the effort of the miners we produce at least 11,000,000 tons of bituminous coal weekly for the remaining 19 weeks of the year."

This is more than has been produced in any one week during the year just ended.
All agreements between miners and operators, Mr. Taylor said, would expire with the proclamation of peace by the President. The miners have

WOMAN'S REALM

NINETEENTH BIRTHDAY

Celebrated by Frank Kaufman on 19th Day of 9th Month of Year 1919 Friday Evening

Frank Kaufman was pleasantly surprised by a large number of friends and relatives, Friday night, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Kaufman, N. E. Second Ave. A curious coincidence was the fact that it was the 19th day of the 9th month, 1919, and his 19th birthday. These dates were written in pink, on an elaborate birthday cake, the gift of Mrs. Ida Warren.

Other gifts were a handsome gold watch from his parents, watch chain from his sister, Miss Bessie, a tool box from his father, also a gold chain of fine workmanship from the young people, and other gifts. The young men present, with rare courtesy, requested Mrs. Herbert, who has known Frank from childhood, to present the cake, and she wished him years for luck. Mrs. Kaufman and daughters served lunch, and Frank with a mathematician's precision, divided the cake, also one from Mrs. Matt Hill, so that no one was slighted. The evening will be a shining milestone in the young man's life journey.

DANCE HAT AN INSPIRATION

Angora and Organdie, With Just the Right Touch of Color, Made Genuine Triumph.

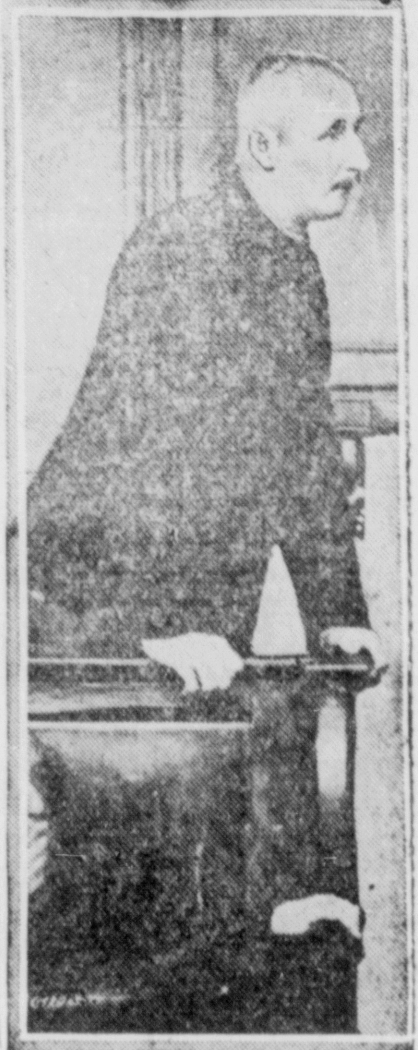

She was going to a dance, and she wanted a hat. Time was when a girl had a frock and was duly grateful, but now she must have a hat as well. That was how the trouble began. She had her organdie hat, but that was beginning to show signs of wear. It wasn't dirty, but the crown had lost some of its perkiness. What could she do?

At last a happy thought struck her. Aunt Di, who always has the fashions at her finger tips, had at her last visit talked of nothing but contrasting materials on hats, gowns, everything! Here was the chance. There was the ball of angora she had left from her sweater collar, a lovely soft gray. She would knit it into a big tam crown and put it on the blue organdie brim. No sooner said than done. Before long the hat that had seemed done for, flaunted a soft tam of angora. Nestled in the folds of it, on one side, a huge pink rose added the bit of color needed. Out of apparently nothing had sprung a dance hat, a novelty that was one of the attractions of the evening.

On Trial for Betraying Edith Cavell to Germans

IN PEARL GRAY HORSEHAIR

Horsehair makes the most perfect fabric for small hats, for it may be twisted and draped into the most modish shapes. This fetching turban of pearl gray horsehair needs as its only ornament the delicate lined gowra feathers so jauntily affixed at the back.

Silk Underwear.

Comfort, economy, practicality—these features explain the popularity of silk underwear; and added to this service for the coming season comes the appeal of color, for new models, single garments and sets, are delightfully pleasing in color.

There are lovely color combinations as well as unusual plain colors to be had.

DOLLIE'S CURE

By MILDRED WHITE.

"And so," finished Abigail, "Douglas can never hope to marry while his mother is alive. There are no bonds so strong as the weakness with which an invalid holds her subject."

"Douglas has tried one nurse after another; capable, charming women, too, but not one could bring his mother to any degree of helpfulness to herself. Mrs. Cameron relies upon others for her slightest need, and all are in terror of her hysterical outbursts. Not that Celia Cameron is noisy in her attacks, but her silent and prolonged weeping wears more I think upon one's nerves. Her husband spoiled her by his unreasoning devotion, and Douglas was forced to continue the slavery. Pardon me, my dear, much as I love Celia Cameron, slavery is the word which expresses her exactions. And when it became evident that Douglas was paying attention to yourself, my conscience chided me for being the means of bringing you together. It is honest of him to ask you to spend a few weeks at his home in his mother's fretful society before urging you to become engaged to him. He certainly wants you to know what you are about, and from what Huldah White told me of her experience as nurse there I can foresee that your visit will be decidedly short. You have neither Huldah's patience nor endurance. You've always been humored yourself, Dollie. When I try to fancy Douglas' mother and you in the same house—the thing is impossible."

Dollie clasped her arms about her curly head, and into the china-blue eyes which had caused her family to bestow upon her the name of Dollie came an inscrutable light.

"Yet, I am going to marry Douglas," she said, "and I'm going to make that visit."

Douglas himself looked apprehensive as he met his sweetheart at the suburban station and drove her out to his fine old home.

"Mother," he gently announced, "Dollie will visit with you in the garden; she will not be in the least offended when you are tired of talking if you send her away."

Dollie agreed with a doubtful smile as the son departed.

"I get tired of talking myself," she told the invalid sadly, "it ruffles my nerves."

"Nerves!" cried the other, and she leaned eagerly forward.

"My doctor forbids the subject, and the nurses were like sticks when I ventured a thought. It will be comforting at least to talk to one who sympathetically understands. Douglas never told me that you also suffer from nerves. Now, do you have wakeful nights, and crying turns, and—"

"I often cry," admitted Dollie, "if things don't go my way. And—I just can't fuss doing every little thing for myself, especially when I've a headache."

"The china-blue eyes grew pathetic. 'I have a headache now,' said Dollie. 'Would you mind handing me that pillow?'"

The invalid hesitated a moment agitated.

"Douglas brings the reclining chair out for me to rest on," she suggested.

Jumping into it, Dollie closed her eyes.

"It's great!" she said cheerfully; "now if you'd just arrange my pillow—"

Presently the invalid found herself slipping it under Dollie's quiet head. The girl's soft hair touched the older woman's fingers, and with an unknown impulse the slim hand moved caressingly through its waves.

"Is your head so very bad?" she asked.

Opening her distressed eyes, Dollie answered with a question:

"You think that you could read a little to me—from your book? A reading sound soothes, I think, don't you?"

"I never read aloud," the invalid responded fearfully. I have to be—read to."

"Oh, dear!" moaned the girl, tears seeming dangerously near her quivering lids.

"If you cry," Mrs. Cameron said querulously, "I shall leave you. It would quite unsettle me."

"What," asked Dollie suddenly interested, "do you do when you feel like crying?"

"Some one usually tries to distract me," the invalid replied.

"But how?" Dollie persisted.

"Miss White used to tell me stories," she said at last.

Dollie reclined again with a relieved sigh.

"Suppose," she suggested, "that you tell me a story now about Douglas, when he was a little boy. How he first started off to school, and—some of his naughtiness, too. I—love Douglas—more than any one in the world. You love him; we could enjoy the stories together. Please."

Light of reminiscence shone in the mother's tired eyes, a smile for years of happy memory curved her restrained lips.

"There was the time," she began, and then she told her story.

As his mother moved houseward, Dollie's blue eyes opened to twinkle at Douglas' perplexity.

"All she wanted was some one to plan and think for. You were too big and independent, Douglas."

She sprang lightly out of her chair. "Oh! I can see," said Dollie, that with reason on all sides, we three are going to live happily ever after."

42 RURAL LINES AT THE MEETING

Representatives From Farmer Telephone Lines in Convention at Chamber of Commerce

OBJECT TO RAISE IN THE RATES
Committee of Five Named From the Farmers and Labor Unions to Investigate Consolidation

The largest gathering of delegates from 42 rural lines ever meeting at Brainerd in years gathered at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon.

L. P. Hall of Bay Lake, presided and Henry Bouck of South Long Lake was secretary.

Chairman Hall stated the rural lines were not satisfied with the increase in rates and service given. The farmers, said he, wanted a square deal, the trade unions did too, and so did the telephone people. The farmers desired better service and a reduction in the proposed new rates.

On motion a committee of five was appointed to investigate the advisability of consolidating or incorporating the rural lines in one company, such committee to be three farmers and two labor men.

Chairman Hall named as the farmers representatives on the committee Carl Wheeler, chairman, C. A. Allbright and W. Caughey, and as labor men, Lawrence O'Toole and J. Murphy.

Fred Speechley, commercial superintendent of St. Cloud, spoke in behalf of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Co. He said the company could not raise or lower rates unless such matter was taken up with the state railroad and warehouse commission. Hearings were to be held in October by the commission and it would soon be in a position to tell what was a proper rate for service.

He spoke of the Brainerd plant which had cost $60,000. There were 1572 subscribers of which 957 were on four-party lines.

At the time of going to press, Mr. Speechley was still speaking.

BIG HIGHWAY MEETING

Mississippi River Scenic Highway Promoters to Meet at Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15th

The first annual meeting of the representatives of the Mississippi River Scenic Highway association, organized in three divisions some three months ago, will be held at Memphis, Tenn., on October 15, according to a telegram received by F. T. Lincoln of the Chamber of Commerce.

At a recent meeting of the Northern Division held in St. Paul, the organization named F. G. Bell of McGregor, Ia., and R. R. Wise of Brainerd as delegates to this convention, and the secretary, F. T. Lincoln, as a delegate at large, their expenses to be paid by the Northern Division which embraces the territory along the route from Dubuque, Ia., to Itasca park.

The three divisions of the highway are now fully organized, much of the trail marked and the prospects for the promotion of one of the most universally traveled arteries for tourists from the Gulf to the lake country of northern Minnesota seem very bright.

PLEASED WITH VETO

News in Dispatch of Governor's Action Met With Welcome Here—Telegrams Sent Him

The news in the Dispatch last evening to the effect that the Governor had vetoed the tonnage tax measure, was received in Brainerd with keen appreciation. It was bulletined at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and the news spread broadcast over the city and in the country adjacent.

A telegram was sent to Governor Burnquist by the Chamber of Commerce, signed by representative citizens and organizations, congratulating him on his action and expressing the appreciation of citizens of this city. This telegram read:

Hon. J. A. A. Burnquist, St. Paul, Minn.
"Congratulations upon your action in vetoing the tonnage tax measure. You have performed a signal service for Northern Minnesota and with no injustice to any other section of the state. It is keenly appreciated here."

Pleased at Her Appearance.

SUB CONFERENCE OF THE "NATION WIDE CAMPAIGN"

A sub conference of the movement known as "The Nation Wide Campaign" will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church on the evening of Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. There will be three outside speakers of note who are coming to our city solely for the purpose of telling us all about this movement and in justice to them as well as for our own information there should not be a single empty pew in the church on the night in question.

The Rt. Rev. James Dow Morrison, D. D., the Bishop of the Diocese of Duluth, the Rev. C. C. Rollitt, Secretary of the Province of the Northwest and W. E. Magner the campaign director for this diocese are the speakers for the evening.

We are not often favored with speakers of this caliber and you are therefore urged to keep the date in mind and make your plans to be present. Remember the date, Wednesday evening, September 24.

Although this conference is of special interest to the members of the Episcopal church outsiders are more than welcome and we feel that they will be amply repaid for their attendance.

Contributed by the Rev. Hans J. Wolner.

About Sciences and Religions.

The philosophical sciences deal with the general principles, laws or causes that furnish the rational explanation of anything; the rationale by which the facts of any region of knowledge are explained. The phrase is used more particularly in reference to the study of natural philosophy or physics. Empirical methods are those of observation. It is a science that grows out of experience. Such a scientist is versed, or skilled, in collecting facts and from those facts generalizations are made. There are hundreds of religions.

"I See In the Paper"

Is the Way Many Conversations Begin. If Your Advertisement Were There It Would Be Seen Too.

The Flowing Tide.

No one, however great his genius or high his position, is all-important to the world; its work will go on without him. There may be ripples and disturbances in the current for a time where he sinks out of sight, but the tide will soon be flowing on as before. This truth may be painful to personal vanity, but it is comforting to every generous soul that cares more for others than for self.

"French Leave."

This expression arose in the early part of the eighteenth century, through certain guests, in the salons of France, not aware of the higher acts of courtesy, leaving without saying good-by to the host or hostess. The practice spread to society in this country. Therefore, if a man left without saying good-by to his host, it was said he took "French leave."

PREPARE TO FIGHT RETURN OF "FLU"

HEALTH SERVICES OF GOVERNMENT ASK CONGRESS FOR CONSIDERABLE SUM.

WARNINGS TO THE PEOPLE

Warm Clothing and Fresh Air Are of the Greatest Importance in Warding Off the Attacks of the Dread Epidemic.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Congress has been asked to appropriate a considerable sum of money to enable the health services of the government to combat the influenza, grip, Spanish flu, or whatever the proper name is for the "demon who decimated" last year.

The government health authorities seem to believe that this fall the influenza threatens to return. Congress, it is believed, will grant the funds necessary to prevent the return of the flu, if it can be prevented, and to combat it if it enters the field as a fighter against human life as it did last year.

It is recognized in congress that this matter literally is of vital importance and, therefore, necessarily of vital interest to the people of the United States. The hope of the medical authorities here is that the awful scenes of a year ago may not be repeated. Of course the country has not anything like as many soldiers in camp this year as it had last year, but, dreadful as the disease was in the military camps of this country and in France, it was no more dreadful than in the homes of the civilians.

This is a country-wide matter of concern and the government officials know it. Recently certain instructions have been issued in a general way by the health officials concerning precautions which should be taken by individuals. "Keep warm" may be given as the summary of first advice. There are medical men who, in view of the fact that the young particularly were attacked last year, are bold enough to say that if young girls would wear more clothes than they do they might escape the "cold consequences."

Fresh Air a Good Medicine.

All the doctors of all the schools, so far as Washington is concerned at any rate, seem to recognize the fact that fresh air is mighty good medicine, and, at times, a mighty good substitute for medicine, if one may put it that way.

The writer of this was in France last year at the time of the height of the flu epidemic. The records show that the soldiers who were living in the open were not afflicted with the influenza in as great numbers proportionately as were the soldiers who were living in close quarters. It did not follow, however, that those who did contract the disease at the front were any more likely to recover than those who did so while stationed in the sections of the country back of the advanced zone.

When the final records are prepared it probably will be shown that the men leading the open-air life with all its hardships, even to the extent of being frequently soaked by cold rains, succumbed to the disease in smaller numbers than the men who were carefully housed. It is probable that out of the three or four millions of men in the army, a greater number had the flu than out of an equal number of civilians, but it must be remembered that virtually all the men in the army were young, while among four million civilians taken haphazard there are young, middle-aged and old. Youth was the shining mark for the influenza. It was no respecter of nationalities or of races.

Scientists Have Studied It.

The French scientists always have been known for the success of their investigating work. Through many months of last year the medical men of France, hardened as they were with the care of the wounded and of the refugees, took the time from their few hours of rest to attempt to solve the problem of the cause of influenza and to seek a cure for it. The British and the American medical men were working to the same end. All that was discovered has been gathered together and is at the service of the medical scientists of all countries, but this all is not enough apparently to enable even an approach to sure knowledge.

Nobody in Washington apparently wants to be an alarmist, but the government officials and health authorities of all states are at work today in an endeavor to inform the people as to their duties to themselves in case the influenza again threatens, and as to their treatment of themselves when once it has obtained a grip.

The federal government has many health services. There are those of the army and the navy and then there is the great public health service which concerns itself with looking after the physical welfare of all the people. Experimentation is in progress constantly and there is no line of research which has been neglected by the authorities.

In some cases duplication of research effort is necessary, because one man working along a certain line may not develop results while another man may, and so it is that in medicine and in surgery hundreds of men frequently are engaged in the same field of investigation.

Not Responsible.

The justice of the peace of a certain town was a hardened old bachelor, notoriously averse to marriage. His most intimate friend was to be married and insisted that he perform the ceremony. After much persuasion the justice consented and the affair went on smoothly until the last interrogation, "Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?" was asked in a pathetic tone.

"I do," was the response.

"Then I pronounce you man and wife, but remember, Jack, you asked me to do this. Don't ever blame me for it."

Didn't Amount to Much Then.

Elman was boasting to his younger brother about how smart he was when he was a year old. "I could walk an' run an' jump," he bragged, "an' sing a song."

"An' what was I doing then?" inquired Willie. "Did I run an' jump, too?"

"You couldn't do nothing," was Elman's crushing reply. "When I was a year old you was nowhere; you was just a speck of dust."

Opening of Panama Canal.

In 1914, on August 15, the Panama canal was formally opened to the world. The canal had been nine years in building. The total cost of construction, exclusive of fortifications, civil government and payments to the republic of Panama, was approximately $357,000,000. The first passage after the formal opening of the canal was made by the steamship Ancon, Colonel Goethals, governor of the canal zone, was on board. The passage from Cristobal to Balboa was accomplished in nine hours.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MY HEAD!

When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness. When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxins—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath, anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, ear affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil, or procure at the drug store, a pleasant vegetable laxative, called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.
